

The International Morse code is a viable and usable means of communicating within the amateur radio service.
Other service's are just that, other service's, not amateur radio.
Retain the present requirement for Morse testing.